RE: Master Plan Update – Revised Draft Introduction

We have updated the Master Plan Update introduction to reflect the comments received at the March 2, 2021 Planning Commission meeting.

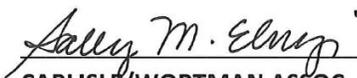

You will notice that we have added a number of comments provided by residents from Survey #1, Survey #2, and the Open House Event. These comments are meant to “speak for themselves” rather than writing text that describes the results of the public engagement process.

We have also modified the outline of the Update to include the “guiding principles” at the end of the Introduction, rather than in each sub-area section. Given the overarching nature of a “guiding principal,” we think they should be discussed at the beginning of the document.

As mentioned previously, we have not formatted the text into a final layout, as we did not want to spend a lot of time on layout until we had the text in a more final form. However, the Update document will be formatted to be attractive, inviting, and easy to read. The document will also incorporate photos and graphics that illustrate the ideas and information in the text.

I do not expect that we will have time at the upcoming meeting to review this draft. However, in case we do, please be prepared to discuss it. If you have writing style comments or typographical issues, please provide them via e-mail to selmiger@cwaplan.com

I look forward to discussing this with you at your next meeting.
